

note

NOUNS

- note
a brief written record
"he made a note of the appointment"
- note, line, short letter, billet
a short personal letter
"drop me a line when you get there"
- note, musical note, tone
a notation representing the pitch and duration of a musical sound
"the singer held the note too long"

- note

a tone of voice that shows what the speaker is feeling

"there was a note of uncertainty in his voice"
- note

a characteristic emotional quality

"it ended on a sour note"

"there was a note of gaiety in her manner"

"he detected a note of sarcasm"
- note, Federal Reserve note, greenback, banker's bill, banknote, government note, bank note, bill, bank bill

a piece of paper money (especially one issued by a central bank)

"he peeled off five one-thousand-zloty notes"
- note, notation, annotation

a comment or instruction (usually added)

"his notes were appended at the end of the article"

"he added a short notation to the address on the envelope"
- note, preeminence, eminence, distinction

high status importance owing to marked superiority

"a scholar of great eminence"
- note, note of hand, promissory note

a promise to pay a specified amount on demand or at a certain time

"I had to co-sign his note at the bank"

VERBS

- note, observe, mention, remark

make mention of

"She observed that his presentation took up too much time"

"They noted that it was a fine day to go sailing"
- note, mark, notice

notice or perceive

"She noted that someone was following her"

"mark my words"
- note, observe, take note

observe with care or pay close attention to

"Take note of this chemical reaction"

- note, take down

make a written note of

"she noted everything the teacher said that morning"